Return Engagement?

For days Carmel has been suffering an inner conflict of major proportions. Its citizens are torn between their love of the pagentry, color and romance that is the Monterey Centennial Celebration, and their horror of crowds, a mobophobia that creeps up on people who make their home on sand dunes or under pines. They want to see Monterey's golden streets but they don't want their toes stepped on, even on a gilded pavement. They want to see Lloyd Weer doing Commodore Sloat in the pageant, but they don't want somebody's elbow in their ribs and somebody's breath down the back of their necks while they watch him.

A solution for the whole thing has occurred to us. Let Carmel stay away from the Centennial this week, leaving room for off-the-Peninsula visitors to enjoy it, and then let Monterey put it on again next week for our benefit. We feel that this is a sound suggestion and it has been wildly applauded by everybody in Carmel to whom we have mentioned it, but nobody over the hill would even consider it!

One Carmelite suggested that we just sit tight and we'd not only see the golden streets, we'd have them. "Wait till the mob starts coming over the hill with Alvarado street on the soles of their shoes!"

Another Carmel citizen had even a better idea. "Wait till the sight seers start streaming over here and then we can skip over to Monterey and take up the space they have vacated. It's just a matter of timing."

There is a chance that some stranger might read this, so we'd better point out that all this is fooling. Carmel, from the river mouth to Pebble Beach gate is palpitating with pride at the beautiful job her sister city has done in dressing herself and her citizens for this great occasion, and for the splendid show she is putting on over there.

And of course, there is only one solution to the internal struggle, and most of us have already arrived at it. Go over the hill and have a good time!

Council Receives 1947 Assessment Role Figures

At a short meeting of the Carmel City Council on Wednesday night, the assessment roll was deposited with the council by City Clerk Peter Mawdsley. Figures show that the new roll figures total $5,672,615 as compared with last fiscal year's $5,530,960. Difference between the two is an increase of $141,655.

Other matters taken up were: adjourning as a Board of Equalization until Monday, July 8, at 10:30 a.m.; adjourning of the hearing on a zoning problem until July 17 at 7:45 p.m.; passing claims for payment. The next meeting of the council will be on July 17, at which time these matters will be taken up and acted upon.

CARMEL PINE CONE:

July 4, 1946

A Committee of Carmel people, representing civic organizations, churches and women's clubs, has been formed to receive contributions for famine relief overseas. The Committee, under the honorary chairmanship of Mr. Willard W. Wheeler, includes Mrs. Jonathan M. Rigdon, Chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Cass, Treasurer, and Mrs. D. L. James who is in charge of personnel.

Mr. Ernest S. Bixler, Carmel Postmaster, has kindly agreed to have a table set up in the Post Office between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. July 5 to 20, inclusive.

During these hours, contributions will be accepted for UNRRA, American Friends Committee, C.A.R.E. (Cooperation for American Remittances to Europe) and I.R.R.C. (International Rescue and Relief Committee). You may specify persons and countries in the last two of these organizations.

Contributors may indicate to which of the above organizations they wish to give.

This is an issue which means more than hungry stomachs, though nothing is much more important. It means that we can contribute to world peace and good will through the common currency of food and a generous spirit. It means, as Gen. Eisenhower warned for Europe, we send either food or troops. It means, as one of our representatives in Congress said, "In a choice between freedom-without-food or food-without-freedom, the people will choose food."

Recreation Program Activities

By GEORGE MOSOLF

Because of the Centennial, there will be no recreation program activities today.

The non-swimmers at Fred Godwin's La Playa pool are rapidly moving into the deep end of the pool and many of them are ready for advanced instruction. There has been a slight change in the time for swimming at the La Playa on Tuesdays. Instead of leaving Sunset at 1:30 everyone will leave at 2 so instruction can commence at 2:30. Help is still needed in the transportation department. Mothers taking the kids to the pool can enjoy swimming when the youngsters take their rest periods.

Leo Kohler reports that 45 Carmel tennis prospects have been turning out for instruction on Monday and Thursday afternoons. This bodes well for the future of tennis in Carmel and with the professional help given by Leo it shouldn't be too much to expect a champion or two to emerge from this group. The Hildebrand's Puppet Show given on Tuesday at 10 is attracting a host of goggled kids from 4 to 9 years old. Mothers or fathers are welcome to attend the show with the kids.

The Story Hour, supervised by Mrs. Hildebrand, was attended by 35 little shavers last Friday morning. In addition to a fine collection of stories, the youngsters participated in a songfest which added to the gaiety of the occasion. The line forms for this event at 10 a.m. on Friday.

Many boys and girls coming to the Sunset game room for the first time have expressed surprise at the play equipment available to them. Lost of youngsters like to play table tennis, shuffleboard, tether ball, horse-shoes, badminton, pole ball, basketball, softball, kickball, checkers, dominoes, etc. A phonograph and records are available for those who like to take it easy and listen. Sea Scouts Raise $95.40 In Drive; Want To Buy Boat

The Sea Scouts' boat and uniform fund has been enriched by $95.40 raised in the paper drive held here last month. Cy Johnston announced yesterday. The Sea Scouts had $132.50 already in the bank, raised through salvage work last year, so that they are now $186.90 nearer the boat they hope to buy on the surplus commodity market to put into condition for sailing.

Cy Johnston, who has been telling the generous-minded citizens who wanted to donate toward the fund to wait until after the paper drive, says that he is now ready to take their checks for the boys. Also, he wants to thank the people whose co-operation made the success of the drive possible, first the people who saved paper for the boys, M. J. Murphy who loaned a truck, Kelly Taylor who donated his services as driver; the City for lending the other truck, Carl Thiele who drove it, Walt Pilot who donated storage space for the paper after it was collected, and Mrs. E. R. Hill, who took the telephone calls.

The Pine Cone has also been graciously thanked for doing what it considers its rightful job in any case, providing publicity.

Only One Carmel Landlord Ups Rent, Rest Sitting Tight

Among numerous complaints from tenants that Monterey Peninsula landlords had given notice of increase in rents, there was only one from Carmel, it was learned from the OPA in Monterey. This one involved a 45 percent increase over the present rental. Most of the complaints received were from Monterey, Pacific Grove and East Monterey.

Carmel People Prominent In Pageant Cast

"Sloat's Moment of Decision", historical pageant written and directed by George McMenamin of Monterey, will climax the four-day Centennial program, when it will be presented at the Custom House on Sunday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock. The pageant will end with the raising of the United States Flag. With air schedules to begin at 10:30, each actor is now letter and time-perfect.

George McMenamin, who is back on the Peninsula after four years in the Army, most of the time spent in England, says that directing the pageant is more fun than a circus. He is using, in the cast, 60 men from Fort Ord who will play sailors and marines, 40 dancers, 18 principals, six boats and two horses.

Carmel members of the cast are Allan Knight as Mariano Silva, Lloyd Weer as Commodore Sloat, Lee Crowe as Pedro, Frances Ordway and Louise Welty as Mexican girls, Dan Welty as Capt. Mervine, Alex Merrivale as Walter Colton and Leo Weber as John Fremont, in the pantomime cast. In the speaking cast will be Donald Craig as Capt. Mervine, Noel Arnold as Sloat, and Mrs. Arnold doing the voices of the Mexican girls, Milton Stitt as Fremont Army AWOL and Walter Warfield as Walter Colton, Thomas Larkin and Percer Prine.

Pink-Eared P. D. Goes After Kohn

Carmel police department was notified early yesterday morning that the Berkeley police had picked up Saul Solomon Kohn, confessed burglar and car thief. He's Carmel's prisoner, but the Monterey police will go to Berkeley to bring him back, and even the Centennial beards can't cover the red faces of Monterey's stalwarts as they set out on the mission.

Friday night last week Kohn rifled the bedrooms of two Carmel residents while they slept (see earlier story on Page 3.) and stole a car from another Carmelite. He was picked up in Santa Barbara through the stolen car, and Carmel police officers drove to the southern city, extracted a confession from him and brought him back, lodging him in the Monterey jail.

Monday morning Kohn was gone, and A. R. Mason, 211 Hermian Drive, Monterey, had had his house entered and his wallet and car stolen. The description of the car, a 1936 Pontiac sedan, led to Kohn's arrest in Berkeley.

Apparently he had walked out of the Monterey jail through the recreation room when the prisoners in the tank were allowed to go into the cells to get blankets for the night.

GETTING AROUND THE PENINSULA

"Just call me mister", says Virgil (Vip) Parich, since his release from the Army at Camp Beale on Monday. "And if you think I'm going to be a coy civilian, wearing red neckties and red and white striped undershirts, you're crazy. What I intend to wear, as a civilian, is just plain, old olive drab. My only regret is that I was not dismissed from the service in time to grow a beard, just like the other guys." As a civilian, Parich is now hard at work figuring how to bring his furniture and other belongings up from Los Angeles, to place into the home he purchased recently in Robles Del Rio.

When gold was first discovered, Monterey, like all other California centers, became a deserted town. Now, one hundred and two years later, Monterey has its streets painted with gold and thousands of people are flocking here this weekend to view the spectacle. The crowds began coming in last weekend, and each day more visitors have arrived. Hotels and auto camps have been booked solid for more than a month. Some arrivals have found lodgings in private homes, but for the most part, there just isn't any place to stay. Peninsula hotels are maintaining OPA rates during the Centennial, and the question of boosting rates will be taken up at a later time by the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Association.

The OPA in Monterey is still functioning, but in an unofficial capacity, Paul H. Low, administrator, revealed this week. The office has received numerous complaints on the part of tenants that rents are being raised by landlords. At the present time, the tenants are unable to do anything about the unfortunate situation, except to stand on their legal rights. Landlords must give tenants a 30-day notice of rent increase, but aside from this, renters are powerless.

For the time being, at least, the meat famine is a thing of the past. For the first time in several days, Carmel meat markets have had large supplies of meat on counters. Eight large cattle trucks were observed going up Carmel Valley on Tuesday morning. Cattle owners are unloading stock rapidly, receiving highest prices in history since OPA's death at midnight last Sunday. The consumers, naturally, are the ones paying the increase. How about a buyer's strike, pals?

The interim zoning ordinance which affects a 500-foot section of Carmel Valley near Los Laureles grade has been extended for a six-months' period by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors at a meeting in Salinas last Monday. The rest of the Valley, however, is entirely unprotected and several business ventures are being established further east, near Robles del Rio turnoff. Two large disfiguring signs, advertising a well-known brand of soft drink have been erected along the Valley road, and indications are that others will follow unless residents take further steps with the Planning Commission to work out a satisfactory zoning ordinance.

The Carmel Pine Cone Softball Team got everything but butter out of the Salinas Pet Milk team Tuesday night, July 2, on the Sunset diamond when the local nine gave the dairy outfit a 17 to 2 shellacking.

Behind the pitching of Jay Huffman, the Pine Cone turned in an almost errorless game including four double plays around Ki Miyamoto, playing second base. Every man on the local team including those who came into the game in the seventh inning, scored a run as the heavy bats went into action and the Pine Cone got fifty-two chances at the plate.

Scoring five runs in the first inning, the local team forced a change of pitchers from the Pet Milk team when Mammon replaced T. Vargas. Mammon allowed a total of fourteen walks.

The boy with the bad hands, Catcher Nicholson, knocked a homerun in the fifth inning. Ki Miyamoto also got four bags out of a bunted ball that was errored back and forth through the Pet Milk outfield.

Last Saturday night inaugurated the loud speaking system at the Sunset diamond and was in use again for the Tuesday night game with Pet Milk. The next week should see the new score board erected to the delight of the puzzled fans who seldom can keep the high scores on their fingers.

PLUMBERS INVADE

Playing host to a Bay Area softball team Saturday night, The Carmel Pine Cone aggregation were more than generous when they dropped an 8 to 5 ball game to the traveling Palo Alto Plumbers on Sunset Field.

Starting unusually slow, the local men couldn't lay any part of the bat on the elusive ball until the fourth inning, when Ki Miyamoto regained his eye and knocked a homerun with no men on, giving the local team its first run to the Plumbers' four.

Action again sparked in the sixth inning when three Pine Cone men took free walks down to the first base and Kelsey, who had come in in the fourth inning, laid out a hit that brought in Huffman and Stetson.

The Plumbers took another run in the first of the seventh increasing their lead to a 5 to 3 margin. The local team started another rally in the last of the seventh when Giles, who had replaced Butts for the last inning, laid down a perfect bunt to bring in Miyamoto from third after Studevant had already scored.

The ball game was tied up 5 to 5 and went into three extra innings. The first of the tenth frame, with three men on, Cox of the Plumbers caught a ball off the tip of his (Continued on page seven)

World Ills Due To Materialism Says Mgr. Sheen

By Alberta Beeson

"The modern world would change all but the individual, yet in the moral regeneration of our lives lies the salvation of the world. We must choose our symbols today, the fist or the folded hands of prayer," Monsignor Fulton Sheen said Monday evening as he closed his speech in a crowded Carmel Mission.

He stated that much of the evil plight of the world today arises from the acceptance of the philosophies of the middle nineteenth century. John Stuart Mill, in his Essay on Liberty, defined liberty as the right to do as you please. Darwin set forth man's origin as a biological force. Wagner, in the Niebelungenlied, glorified the Gods of the Northland and Superman. Karl Marx defined religion as "the opiate of the people."

These doctrines set forth the idea that man is good, that in his natural state he is capable of good only, as theory diametrically opposed to the ecclesiastical doctrine of original sin.

And man, believing in his own natural goodness and the inevitability of his own progress, moved forward from the Napoleonic wars to the Franco-Prussian War in 58 years, from the Franco-Prussian War to the World War in 43 years; from World War I to World War II in 21 years.

This last war he fought with specific objectives, every one of which was lost, said Monsignor Sheen. Freedom from fear, freedom from want, freedom of religion, freedom of speech, not one of the Atlantic Charter provisions remains, he said. The evidence, he said, is in Albania, Hungary, Jugoslavia, Carpatho-Russia, Poland. There are 150 thousand Catholics in Albania under attack, he said. There is no Mass celebrated in Poland except secretly. In Jugoslavia 253 priests have been killed and 169 live under intolerable conditions.

But is there then in the debacle of today no hope? He answered this question with "In the nineteenth century, Russia's great, such as Dostoevski, prophesied the sinking of Russia and her regeneration in Christ. When this is to be depends upon those living now."

"It may be that our western civilization must be broken," said Monsignor Sheen, "to let the kernel of Christianity forth again to raise the world."

"If we can love our neighbor as ourselves, love the image of God in ourselves, then we can aid the world. If we will regenerate our own lives, then we can be tangibly helpful."

LARRY GRENIER VISITING

Here from Los Angeles for the Centennial Celebration is Larry Grenier. He and Alan McAllister, also of Los Angeles, are staying at the home of Ruth Marion McElroy. Larry is the stage manager for the Los Angeles Company of The Drunkard.

If They Had To Mislay A Prisoner, Why Carmel's Man?

Maybe all their strength went to raising beards for the Centennial, or maybe its something that could happen in any well-regulated jail, but if the Monterey police had to let one of their charges walk out and disappear, why did it have to be Saul Solomon Kohn, confessed burglar and auto thief, whom Carmel Police Officers Earl Wermuth and John Dovolis had gone all the way to Santa Barbara to get, Wermuth and Dovolis would like to know.

Saul Solomon Kohn first came to the notice of the Carmel police department when the somnolent Saturday morning peace was disturbed by a telephone report from Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Logan, Ocean and Santa Rita, that someone had entered their bedroom through the bathroom window and carried off $25 in cash while they were sleeping. Hot on the trail came a report from Mr. J. F. Croll, Torres and Ocean, that someone entered through a rear door and removed from his bedroom, while he slept, $52, a Waltham watch and a box of foreign coins. A few minutes later, Mr. F. B. Ketchum, Mt. View and Torres, same neighborhood, phoned to say that his car had been stolen from his garage, a two door, '44 Ford sedan.

Chief Roy Fraties put this latter information on the teletype.

At four o'clock in the afternoon the Santa Barbara police notified the Carmel officers that they had in custody one Saul Solomon Kohn who had become involved in a minor traffic accident in Santa Barbara, while driving a two door, 1944 Ford sedan that answered to the description of Mr. Ketchum's, Mt. View and Torres, Carmel.

Also, he had in his possession $72 in cash, a box of foreign coins and one Waltham watch.

Wermuth and Dovolis were dispatched to bring him back alive and with a confession, which they did.

"And Sunday they put him in the Monterey pokey for safe keeping," said Chief of Police Roy Fraties. "Monday morning I was gathering up some printed forms in the office to go over to Monterey to get some information out of him, and the Monterey police called up and wanted to know if we had him, because they didn't—not anymore."

Nobody knows when or how he left. He just walked out. And about two blocks from the Monterey jail Sunday night a house was entered, money abstracted from the room where people were sleeping, and a car stolen.

Bishop Block Will Conduct Summer Services

The congregation of All Saints' Church learned last Sunday that Dr. Karl Morgan Block, Bishop of California, who has his home here, would conduct the services at All Saints' except when a visiting clergyman had been invited to do so.

It was also learned that the new crozier of carved wood covered with gold leaf, was the work of a Carmel resident, Alec Miller. The cross was given by Mrs. Heiser a member of Grace Cathedral congregation in San Francisco, in memory of her son, Captain Heiser, of the Air Force, who was killed in the war.

She wore a white, starched lace bodice and net skirt, illusion veil bordered with French lace train, coronet style. The gown was princess style with sweetheart neckline, bracelet-length sleeves, ruching at neck and sleeves and a very full skirt. She carried white tuberous begonias, stephanotis and sweet peas. She was given in marriage by her father, E. Frederick Smith.

Maid of honor was Miss Gloria Lambert of Mountain View, who wore a white chiffon gown with gold accents, and carried a bouquet of white carnations, white sweet peas, ribbon and lace.

Best man was Lee Raibley of Visalia. The groom and best man were together in the service and spent several months overseas together.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Barbara Gillott of Salinas and Miss Barbara Mitchell of Taft. They both wore white formals and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and pink bouvardia.

Ushers were E. Frederick Smith, Jr., USN and Franklyn Rhys Smith of San Francisco, brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a light blue dress with draped side effect, pale pink net, white accessories and carried pink roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. T. K. Robinson of Cincinnati, wore a two-piece flowered jersey print and carried a corsage of white gardenias.

More than 150 guests attended the reception at the home of the bride's parents in Palo Alto. The family formerly lived in Carmel and have many friends here.

After spending the summer in the east, the young couple will return to California in the fall to enter San Jose State College.

Celebrate Anniversary

Councilman and Mrs. Frank Hefling celebrated their 19th wedding anniversary on the Fourth of July by attending the Lions Club Annual barbecue at Murphy's Ranch. They were married at San Jose, but have made their home in Carmel for 14 years. They have two children, Jill and Tom, but the latter was not on hand to congratulate his parents, as he left Wednesday with Col. James Brown and Perry for five weeks motor trip to Portland, Maine, that will include Washington, D.C., New York and Yellowstone.

Chamber Music at Hollow Hills

Last Tuesday evening the Alma Trio gave the third and last of the beautiful concerts of chamber music with which Mr. Noel Sullivan hanned his exquisite new music room at Hollow Hills Farm. Mr. Sullivan had said that the room was dedicated to music and his friends. Carmel music lovers can rarely have had a greater happiness than in listening to the Alma Trio's rendering of Brahms Trio in B major, Opus 8 with which the concert ended. So great was the enthusiasms of their hearers that the Trio broke the rule of no encores, which has prevailed at the other two concerts, and played the first movement of a Trio by Dvorack.

Among the out-of-town guests who are also lovers of Carmel were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mathias from New York, Mrs. Charles Erskine Scott Wood from Los Gatos, and the singer Roland Hayes and his wife and daughter, from Georgia and New England.

Leslie Doolittle, Catherine Winslow Give Highly Successful Piano Recital

At a recital in the studio of Jesusa Guidi Fremont on Sunday afternoon two of her pupils played a program which delighted and surprised the audience. The fine musicianship of these students, their thorough comprehension and performance made the occasion a memorable experience.

Leslie Doolittle began with a Toccata by Longo, a composition by a former teacher of Mrs. Fremont. He played this with facility and feeling, proving that our early expectations of this young man were well founded. He is now eleven years old, and has progressed and developed rapidly as he promised to do when we first heard him play as a child of nine. His natural gifts have been supplemented by a growing technique, and with the added vitality which should come with maturity, there is little doubt that he will become a very fine pianist.

After his three opening numbers, Leslie played the Vivace of the Concerto in D Major by Haydn. This was no small accomplishment for a boy of eleven years, but he carried it through with quiet conviction and poise. His musical understanding and sensitivity were apparent to a remarkable degree as he went clearly and skilfully through this performance.

The next part of the program was played by Catherine Winslow, an older pupil of eighteen years, who had already played Leslie's accompaniment for the concerto. She began with two Scarlatti numbers, Pastorale and Sonata, A major. These she played with beautiful clarity and sparkle, using a sly and winsome humor in the ending of the latter. Her playing of the Bach-Silotti Organ Prelude in G Minor was a fine achievement. The romantic tones in the beginning, nobly presented and giving place so truly to the grace and lightness of the pianissimo could only have been accomplished by a true musician. The power of the later great chords played with full arm weight proved that strength in playing is not only a matter of physical ability but a contribution of the spirit. In this number Catherine really proved herself.

The Papillons of Schumann followed the Bach and they were given all the descriptive charm which they demand. Each had its distinctive character and the little sketches and ballet dances came dancing from the quick fingers of the young pianist with delicacy and conviction.

After the intermission, Catherine played two Chopin numbers Nocturne in F sharp major and Impromptu in A flat major. These familiar works, so well known as recordings by great artists, were a true test of a pianist's worth and capability. There was no doubt that Catherine Winslow stood this test. Her Chopin was a joy to hear.

The final numbers in this program should have been played by Elizabeth Sand, but an unfortunate accident to one of her fingers made it impossible for her to play. So Catherine Winslow took her place, playing the Chopin waltze in A flat major exquisitely and gracefully, and finally the Sunken Cathedral by Debussy with all the command of tone which it requires.

The whole recital was a most enjoyable occasion, reflecting the excellent teaching of Mrs. Fremont and presenting the accomplishments of two very unusual students. —D. H.

Festival Artists Start Arriving Here Next Week

Bach Festival arrangements are nearing completion. Ralph Linsley, official pianist of the Festival, who has played in every Festival but the first, will be the first of the participants to arrive, coming in from Pasadena next Monday, July 8. Since his discharge from the Army, where, as assistant to the chaplain, he was in North Africa, Palestine, even finding recruits for the Bach Festival in Casablanca, Ralph has been in New York, doing professional accompanying. He will be heard in the two-piano concerto on Monday, and will be at the piano throughout the Festival.

On Tuesday, July 16, all the "strings" of the orchestra arrive, headed by Doris Ballard, who has been concert mistress for six festivals, this summer making the seventh. Doris comes from Austin, Texas, where she has been giving concerts, and living with her pianist-husband. Since playing here in 1942, she has concertized in the Northwest, East and Middle West.

Thursday, July 18, the "winds" arrive; on Friday, the extra tenors and sopranos of the Festival Chorus; on Saturday, the Madrigal soloists; on Sunday, the vocal quartet. Final "dress rehearsal" will be held Sunday evening, July 21, with orchestra, chorus and soloists, ready for the opening on Monday night, July 22.

Evans Pupils Present Delightful Program at High School Sunday

The ease with which Emma Evans presents her students' recitals could lead one to imagine they were no work at all, and in the delightful program her piano pupils gave Sunday afternoon in the High School music room there was no evidence of the many last minute substitutions and fill-ins that circumstances necessitated.

The excitement attendant on two weddings in the Evans' household made it impossible for her to give the recital in May as originally planned, and with many of her intermediate and advanced students now away on vacation, almost half of those on Sunday's program were beginning students in their first public recital. That Mrs. Evans has a deep feeling for young people as well as for music is evident in their personal response to her and perhaps accounts for the remarkable poise and assurance they display on the platform.

Tatiana Srsen, who has studied with Mrs. Evans for some years, opened the program with Brahms' Hungarian Dance No. 7, followed by Penny Bestor with a John Thompson arrangement of a Bach Gavotte, John Bartowick with Bach's Smokers' Reflection and Aaron's Wood Nymphs' Frolic, Cherrill Vanderploeg with a Bach Minuet and Mac Lachlan's Dancing Marionettes. Ann Marie Tanous with a Clementi Sonata, Patty Finley with Skaters' Waltz and Cascades by Beverslius, Donalee Paul with Scott's Lento and Adinself's Warsaw Concerto.

After the intermission Tatiana Srsen was back to give Chopin's Scherzo in B flat, Op. 31; Joan Burk played Moszkowski's Malaguena and Tango Carioca by Thompson; Eleanor Taggart, Chopin's Polonaise in A major; Joan Ward, Theme from Piano Concerto, Tchaikovsky arranged by Milton; and Dorothy Mack, Schumann's Aufschwung, and Sowerby's Money Musk. Sondra Sowell, who has not studied for two months, but has kept her music in her fingertips, played Mac Lachlan's Song of the Sea and Bentley's Elf and Fairy. Tatiana Srsen, with Mrs. Evans at the second piano, closed the program with a two-piano arrangement of Bennett's Repartee, a piano solo written for band accompaniment.

The talented Miss Srsen, who has just graduated from high school, is working this summer on an ambitious program which Mrs. Evans will present in the fall before Tatiana leaves for college.

It is delightful to see the progress these students are making. Although the advanced pupils contributed the major part of the program, everyone participating showed Mrs. Evans' emphasis on musicianship and her fine understanding of both composer and pupil.

Dorothy Mack, guest-artist on this program, and a former pupil of Mrs. Evans', is studying with her again this summer. Miss Mack, who has been attending Wheaton College in the East, has not only kept up her school work and piano, but has been arranging music for, and accompanying, a voice Trio.

Three One-Act Plays Open At Playhouse Monday

Next Monday night the curtains of the Golden Bough Playhouse will open on three of the famous short plays of modern dramatic literature. In the Shadow of the Glen, by John Millington Synge, Fumed Oak, by Noel Coward, and Shall We Join the Ladies?, by J. M. Barrie. The plays will be directed by Edward Kuster, with Betty Stevens assisting.

Ruth Warshawsky, Alfred Wagstaff and Edward Kuster, whose ensemble playing in They Knew What They Wanted last fall scored an outstanding success, are together again in the Irish folkplay, In the Shadow of the Glen. The fourth member of the cast is William Holm, of Salinas, an outstanding young actor with a record of many fine performances in our neighboring town.

The cast for the brilliant and impish Fumed Oak will include Lenore Weaver, Pencilla Smith, Barbara Berg and Mateo Lettunich. It is Ibsen's Doll House in comic and ironical reverse, being a play that never fails to set the house in an uproar. The final piece, Shall We Join the Ladies?, one of the most baffling of "whodunits", will be played by the following cast: Alec Merivale, Barbara Norberg, Helen Hughes, Howard Weber, Patty Redmond, Albert Van Houtte, Sydney Miller, Susan Wiman, Gabrielle Kuster, Elvira Atwood, Anthony Garofoldi, Caroline Reenstra, Alfred Wagstaff, Mateo Lettunich and William Holm. This extraordinary work, originally written by Barrie as the first act of a three-act play, at once proved so perfect as a one-act thriller that the author never finished his play.

Curtain at 8:30 sharp.

Ruth Burnette

Private funeral services were held in Salinas last Monday for Mrs. Ruth Dexter Burnette, 47, who passed away in a Salinas hospital Saturday following a lingering illness.

Mrs. Burnette, 47, was the widow of the late Dr. Theodore Burnette, and had made her home in Carmel for the past seven years. She was a native of New York.

IN HERRICK HOME

Miss Muriel Drury and Mr. Aubrey Drury of Berkeley are occupying Mrs. Mable Herrick's home on Torres until the middle of August. For the summer they will have as their houseguests Mr. and Mrs. Horace Haynes.

We are diligently concentrating.... on providing service to waiting applicants as fast as it is humanly possible to do so

Every effort is being made to improve the quality and efficiency of our service

Directing our efforts as we have to render service as rapidly as possible to all who want it and to make our service even better than it has ever been before, the 2,886,000 telephones in service as of May 31, 1946, include an increase of 254,000 since V-J Day, of which 183,000 were added in the first five months of this year—an unequaled increase in any similar time period in the history of our company.

The telephone increase since V-J Day exceeds by 67,000, or 36 per cent, the 187,000 increase in the year 1943—the largest yearly telephone increase ever recorded by our company. The telephone increase for the first five months of 1946 exceeds by 69,000, or 60 per cent, the 114,000 increase for the entire year 1945.

New applications for service—totaling 340,000 for the first five months of this year—increased 107 per cent over the corresponding period of a year ago. Of the 286,000 prospective subscribers at the first of the year whose applications had been necessarily deferred due to shortage of facilities, we are glad to report that 183,000, or 64 per cent, have been cared for. Due, however, to the time necessarily involved in the installation of complicated switchboards—in many instances new buildings are required to house them—together with the large number of new applications and the continued materials shortages and disturbed conditions throughout the country affecting manufacturers' production, 229,000 applicants are still waiting for service.

We are diligently concentrating, notwithstanding the difficulties in obtaining adequate apparatus and materials, on providing service to waiting applicants as fast as it is humanly possible to do so. Likewise every effort is being made to improve the quality and efficiency of our service.

Construction of additional toll and long distance circuits has gone forward with rapidity and continued improvement is being made in the service even though the volume continues at record high levels—the calls being 20 per cent greater than in the corresponding five-month period of a year ago.

Our company has recently made substantial further postwar increased wage adjustments, aggregating $6,000,000 on an annual basis, as a result of collective bargaining negotiations with the unions. These added wage increases are over and above the postwar adjustment wage increases made in December of last year which aggregated more than $18,000,000 on an annual basis. Thus, this recent wage increase, embodied in a contract to run until March 1, 1947, brings the postwar adjustment wage increases, arising out of collective bargaining, to more than $24,000,000 annually—the increase in our postwar wage rates being 19 per cent. The recent collective bargaining negotiations between our management and the unions extended over a period from April 24 to May 18, 1946, and at no time throughout the negotiations did the unions or the company fail to realize that the public interest came first... Net Income has been adversely affected by increased costs of operation, particularly the large added wage expenditures.

A girl falls from the thirteenth floor of a skyscraper, seen by at least seven persons from various walks of life. The effects of this accident (if it was an accident) is vividly written in both comic and tragic passages.

SECRETARY OF EUROPE

Golo Mann presents the story of Gentz's life and times with great brilliance and insight. It is possible that all accounts of eyewitnesses of the present problems in Europe need constantly to be supplemented with perspective of books like this in history.

HO FOR HEAVEN!

By Virginia Moore —3.00

Ho For Heaven! is a history of civilization told through the changing idea of death. Thoughtfully and charmingly written, this book is also a thorough-going discussion of funeral customs and taboos all over the world, and a compendium of forceful and delightful anecdote.

A VOLUNTEER'S ADVENTURE

By John William DeForest —3.00

This plainly is one of the unforgettable books of the Civil War, telling of campaigns from Louisiana to Virginia, and of an obscure but excellent soldier who fought them and wrote down precisely what he saw without making any concessions to popular or to any prejudices.

PINE CONE-ELKS

Heavy hitting of the Carmel Pine Cone Softball team accounted for another league victory last Friday night, June 28, at Pacific Grove, when the local team took the Monterey Elks 11 to 4.

Taking their lead in the first three innings the Pine Cone never had to score another run and pitcher Ki Miyamoto held the Elks down to slim hits and runs.

The victory boosted the Pine Cone team to a .600 average in the PG league standing, having won three and lost two, and finished the first half of the "pennant" race. Next week will see the start of the second half of the league, and according to Coach George Mosolf the improved Carmel team should stand a good chance of walking away with the honors.

P. C. CAPTURES TANKS

The Carmel Pine Cone Softball team treated the 78th Tank Battalion to a bad evening Thursday night, June 27, at the Sunset field, when the local team took the army 5 to 4.

The 78th Tank Battalion took the place of the JASCO unit which was scheduled to play, and displayed plenty of fire power and mobility but dropped the game on costly errors. Taking an early lead, the army catcher made two successive errors in a row, allowing four runs to cross the plate.

Pitcher Ray Gumm, who fanned nine men during the evening, kept the army scoreless in the sixth and seventh, winning the ball game.

The Pine Cone, Jr., were bidding to reverse places with the adult Pine Cone Softball Team after they had swept through their first two games in the Teen-Age League.

Playing a preliminary to the Thursday night army game, the Jrs. took the Herald Carriers 10 to 5 in a seven inning ball game and came back even stronger the next Monday night to beat the Pacific Grove, Jr., 12 to 5.

RAIN-CHECK RESULTS

By F. Shea

Samuel E. B. Morse and Charles M. Daniels were the winners of the weekly Rain-Check golf tournament at the Cypress Point Club last Saturday, finishing 10 up in the match-play-against-par contest. Morse shot 86 with 17 handicap, while Daniels, 5 handicap, scored 73. Daniels was two under par going to 17 and ended with a double-bogie and a bogie, but Morse finished strong to prevent the team from losing to par.

In second place were Stuart Haldorn and Francis Shea, 9 up. Haldorn fired 93 and Shea 79, to give the winners close competition.

Other players: Mrs. H. C. Hunt and the Club pro, Henry J. Puget, 4 up; John B. Morse and Harrison Godwin, 2 up; Harry C. Hunt and Paul S. Winslow, 1 up.

Golf Lessons for Carmel Girls—

As a part of the summer recreation program, free golf lessons are being offered Carmel girls at the Pebble Beach course Wednesday mornings at 9 o'clock. The lessons began last week, and according to pros Peter Hay of Pebble Beach and Henry Puget of Cypress Point, who are instructing the girls, a fine start was made. "It is a grand opportunity and the girls should take it upon themselves to be present each week so as not to miss anything," stated Hay. The beginners are provided with a club to take home so that they may become fully acquainted with it and may practice with it at their leisure.

Carmel girls signed up are: Jennifer Lloyd, Mary Lodmell, Kathie von Meier, Elizabeth Baker, Jackie Briggs, Barbara Josselyn, Barbara May, Barbara Timmins, Martha Moller, Sue Dekker and Joan Dekker.

Have You Read . . . ?

BY BLANCHARD STEEVES

One of our most interesting and instructive new books is The First Freedom by Morris L. Ernst. In this book the author attempts to enlighten us on one of the many internal problems which this new age has thrust upon us. The main attempt is to discover and to present to the reader the significant facts on the concentration and control of the immense power behind our newspapers, our radio, and our movies. Even if viewed solely from the cold point of view of recent historic development, this book will be found most informative.

On the question of the effects of this new power over our minds, there will be a great variety of opinions and of inferences on the part of readers. On this question of the effects of the new concentration of control, many of us will disagree with the author even though we must accept his factual findings. This stimulation to wholesome divergent views is one of the virtues of the book. Yet we shall probably all agree that there is at least some danger that the control of the channels of propaganda may become another of our commercial monopolies.

How often we hear people say, "I think for myself!" Fortunately, this statement is seldom intended to be taken literally. Usually it only means, "I do not have to hold the same opinion that you or some other persons believe that I should." Seldom is it intended to deny the fact that our unstable beliefs, the strength of our convictions, our likes and dislikes are largely derived from and colored by what we read, hear, and observe. Our thoughts on religious, moral, social, and economic questions are similarly derived. We recognize all this in the education of the child, but usually do not give sufficient thought to the problem in the continued education of the adult.

We all recognize the cultural good that is derived from the newspaper, the movie, and the radio. But we also know that all three of these exist mainly for private gain, and that at times they are channels of misinformation and false doctrines. We raise no objections, however, so long as these channels are open to all. This First Freedom is the problem that Morris Ernst has investigated.

The author sees danger in the mass production of ideas after the fashion of the mass production of automobile and airplanes of which we are so proud. He has unearthed many facts such as the following, "Ten states have not a single city with competing daily newspapers . . . Fourteen companies owning eighteen papers control about one quarter of our total daily circulation. More than a quarter of our daily circulation is absentee owned. We have a thousand less owners than a few decades ago. Thirty-two hundred weeklies—the backbone of local democracy have disappeared. One company dominates more than 3000 weeklies."

Then of the radio, he finds similar conditions existing: "One third of all regular radio stations are interlocked with newspapers. The bottleneck gets narrower. Four networks before the war had 95 per cent of all night time broadcasting power. One hundred and forty-four advertisers account for 97 per cent of all the network income. Eleven advertisers contribute about 50 per cent of all the network income . . . The weekly attendance at movies amounts to more than 100 million people. But five companies control the 28000 key theaters of the nation . . . We have allowed five giants to destroy our market place of free competition for movies . . ." However, Mr. Ernst does not claim that motion picture corporations are using this power deliberately to control our political, religious, or economic thinking.

Looking to the future we find one brief but startling sentence that will stimulate our

*The seagull screams from the rocks below
And the rhythmic tides in their ebb and flow
Now thunder and break, with resounding boom!
Slow drums of time . . . sure crash of doom!
I watch from above, with tight-lipped breath,
Their impotent fury . . . their sudden death.
I look to the sea where storm clouds race,
Where lifting fog bares the headland's face . . .*

*Then I envy the freedom of gull and sea
And the wail of the winds is a song, to me!
Yet gull and breaker and sea and sky
Were never so boundless, so free as I!
They move to the low of a mighty whole.
I, alone, as master of mind . . . and soul.*

As sand from out the hand of one who sleeps—
Here where old oceans sweep new shapes
Of sea-shells up, and strands of fern,
Here where the wild gull wheels
With eyes like bitter berries
Searching the sea, searching the moss-grown rock—
Your voice will stay, your floating scarf,
Haunting the dunes,
Playing about the cove,
Seeking lost love, lost heliotrope and rue
Among the wide, far-wandering waves.*

MARKET PLACE

*Green wagons in the street,
Awareness of moving feet,
Bright vegetables gathering dust,
Cheap cotton shirts, the smell of must,
Big pretzels hanging thickly on a nail,
Wet painted letters—lavender for sale.
Brown eggs, the form of fruit piled high,
Straw hats and gaudy awnings hide the sky.
Yellow squash and daffodil,
Ripe lemons yellower still.
The urgency in faces,
The different shapes and paces,
A shiny car nosing by,
A fat-faced child about to cry,
The pencil seller against the wall,
A peanut vendor's throaty call.
Strangers' elbows, hard and round,
The smell of sweat, the littered ground.
The nods and smiles a coin will bring,
The fingermarks on everything.*

Days Before Yesterday

BY WILMA COOK

Full of pomp and circumstance, with its dignity reinforced by side burns and whiskers, Monterey receives visitors this week at its Flag Centennial, a small but very mature city, indeed, over 100 years old. You'd never suspect it of youthful monkey shines as recently as forty years ago. With the house full of guests, what could be a better time for Carmel to make the small boy's traditional faux pas by exposing at least one of its elder brother's youthful exploits.

We turn to the Pine Cone files, issue July 2, 1926, which contains a story from the Pacific Grove Review—note how we're spreading the responsibility—headed, "Million Dollar Fog Corporation Organized Just Twenty Years Ago," which would make it 40 years ago, this week. We continue to quote from the Pine Cone, which was purportedly quoting from the Pacific Grove Review.

"Some twenty years ago this month articles of incorporation were filed under the name of The Monterey Fog and Irrigation Co., with a capital stock of $1,000,000 of which amount $500,000 was subscribed.

"The company was organized under the laws of Siberia with a perpetual charter. It was proposed to place the stock on the market at $20.00 a share full paid and non-assessible, and the company started out with bells on.

"The fog plant was to be located in the middle of Monterey Bay, with a capacity of 5,000,000 cubic feet of fog per day. The idea first originated in England where a learned professor of Oxford had the secret for years but good naturedly consented to share it with our local talent.

"In chopping down a tree in Pacific Grove recently there was found hidden in a pine knot an old boxed manuscript which contained the recipe for bottling fog without the aid of brains. There is a demand unprecedented in the history of California today for bottled Fog and there should be a good field for it if confined to a pipe line and forced up Fresno way where there is none or it could be shipped inland in small casks.

"Out here in the bay there is an old MOO that bellows, and blows and chucks the bull on every swell of the ocean tide. Every time the bull blows, the fog is concentrated in the pontoon that floats it and with the proper connections it can easily be piped ashore and bottled for shipment.

"The writer understands that at the time the company was first organized, one of the promoters took a bottle of it home and froze to death shortly after the bottle was uncorked. If so, there is a suggestion that the charter be revised and that efforts be made to interest the Service Stations that dispense gas en route, to buy heavily of the stock and hook up their free air hose with this fog to inflate the tires of the tourist cars from the interior so that we can sooner reach the point of highest production. We could very well use a little of the interior warm weather for some of our fog. It would save striking so many matches to keep the pine cones ablaze in our fire places, and there would not be so many red noses on our streets. Laundry bills would be cut down perceptibly and there would always be handkerchiefs in the bureau drawer. As it is the fog is holding domination over everything and penetrating the middle of things.

"Any person who has faith in this proposal will have a good opportunity now to make an investment that should pay good returns. The field is unlimited and there is no doubt that but what employment could be found for a large number of the unemployed who know the intricate art of canning sardines. At all events, we should not allow this fog to go to waste."

On second thought, this amounts to more than just youthful monkey business—it is an indiscretion that borders on the unethical. Knowing

Over 100 Silva Oils In One-Man Show At Gallery

More than 100 oil paintings, depicting a long and successful career as an artist, will occupy the main gallery of the Carmel Art Association building in a one-man show by William Silva, which opens on Monday, July 15.

The exhibit is being arranged chronologically, and represents each period in the artist's life since he "arrived" in Paris in 1908. On the east wall, a group of paintings of Western Europe will be hung; on the north wall, Italy, the Old South and the Old North will be shown; paintings of Point Lobos will be hung at the end of the gallery, and California oils will cover the long south wall. The exhibit will last two weeks, and it is expected to attract a great deal of interest and enthusiasm among art circles.

Although all his life he had been interested in painting, Mr. Silva did not begin his serious study until 1907, when he sold his interest in a crockery and china store in Chattanooga, Tennessee and departed, with Mrs. Silva, for Paris. There he attended Julian's Academy and within a year was given a one-man show at the finest gallery in Paris—that of Georges Petit.

Traveling, painting and exhibiting occupied him in Europe during the next few years, and upon his return to this country he devoted himself to depicting scenes of southern life, as well as that of New England.

He came to California and in San Francisco heard about the beauties of Carmel. He investigated, found that what he heard was no exaggeration and immediately purchased some lots here on which he built his home and studio. That was over 30 years ago, and during the time he has maintained his residence here he has done a great amount of traveling both in this country and abroad. His exhibits here and in Europe have always been successful, and the honors he has won are many.

At 87, Mr. Silva is still a working artist. Not only that, but he makes his own artistic frames and supervises the hanging and arranging of his exhibits.

Ernest Aldrich

Ernest Walter Aldrich, 66, a resident of Carmel for the past 17 years, died Saturday evening in a local hospital following a long illness. He made his home here at the corner of Fifth and Carpenter streets and was a carpenter by trade. He was a native of Charleston, Vermont.

Surviving are his son, Harold W. Aldrich of Carmel, and a sister, Miss Clara Aldrich of Vermont. Services were held Tuesday at Paul's chapel in Pacific Grove, with burial in El Carmelo cemetery.

General Grant National Park contains four square miles and is the third smallest national park in the United States.

thoughts in various lines: "The day," he says, "when the 'New York Times' and the 'Herald Tribune' are printed simultaneously by television in every city will present local newspapers with a difficult problem." Yes, and Mr. Ernst might well have added that if that time ever comes, it will present many other problems.

The author does not present any specific program for the exercise of governmental authority. He does, however, relate a few instances in which those who have this great power have yielded to the temptation to use it in an unworthy manner.

A well-informed and watchful public will probably be the best protection against dangerous abuses of power. For this reason his book deserves to be widely read.

One reviewer well states that, "His book is the most objective and most persuasive presentation of the problem of competitive expression of ideas which I have yet read."

VIRGINIA MIKULAK, SOCIAL EDITOR

Max Hagemeyer Engaged

News of the betrothal of Faye Peoples and Max Hagemeyer was announced here at a delightful eight o'clock party recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hurd Comstock (Max's mother). A small group of intimate friends and relatives gathered around a table beautifully decorated with gardenias and white stocks. When the guests picked up their separate bouquets they found the little announcement cards carefully concealed beneath them. The news came as a total surprise to Max's friends as Faye is a Burlingame girl and has not often visited Carmel.

The future bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Peoples of Burlingame, and the sister of Lt. Col. Edward Peoples, U. S. M. C., now serving in the Orient. She is a music student at San Jose State College where she and Max met last year just after Max returned from flying over Europe. She is a gifted musician, a fine cellist and pianist, and as Max is also an accomplished cellist, the two young people have much in common.

Both Faye and Max were present at the party which included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Evans, Mrs. Robert Littlefield, Mrs. Helen Bain, Mrs. Jack Nielsen, Eddie and Bob Gargiulo, Aynsley Chappel, Mr. and Mrs. David Hagemeyer and Anne.

No definite plans have been made for the wedding as Faye is still a sophomore at college and Max does not graduate until after the autumn semester.

Between Posts

Houseguests of Colonel C. B. Hazeltine, U. S. A., retired, are Colonel and Mrs. M. H. Matterson and their son Lt. Jack F. Matterson.

Colonel Matterson, a Field Artillery Officer, has just returned from the C.B.I. Theatre. His next assignment is the Cavalry School at Fort Riley Kansas. Well known for his horsemanship, Colonel Matterson has also been a member of the Olympic Horse Show Team in Germany.

Lt. Matterson, following in his father's footsteps, graduated with this year's class from West Point. His first assignment will be Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Receives Letter

Mrs. Grace Howden has just received a letter from Miss Margaret Sherman Lea, who has been her houseguest since the close of the school term. Miss Lea is at present enrolled at the University of Washington for the summer session. In her letter to Mrs. Howden she told of her boat trip to Victoria, B. C., Mt. Rainer, and of how she is enjoying her course in advanced French and finding time to renew old acquaintances. She will return in time for the fall term at Salinas high school, where she is counselor and language teacher.

Miss Sherman is the organist for the Church of the Wayfarer.

Niece Visits Del Montes

Miss Carol Ridnour of San Francisco spent the past week visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Del Monte.

Summer In Carmel

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Antrim and son, Calvin, of Fresno are staying in Carmel for the summer at Yellow Shutters on Carmelo.

Vini, Vidi, But One!

"I am up here at this time," said Marcelle Radgesky, "as this is the only Centennial Celebration of California I will be able to attend, I'm sure."

Miss Radgesky is at present the houseguest of Peg Carroll and Beth Ingels in their Robles Del Rio home. A series of parties has been planned for this charming former Carmel resident.

For the last several years Marcelle has been living in New York. Last year she was called to Hollywood to serve in an executive capacity for one of the major movie studios there.

Army Colors For Luncheon

Miss Kathie von-Meier was hostess for a Bon Voyage luncheon and handkerchief shower honoring Miss Mary Lodmell last Friday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian von Meier. Mary is leaving with her mother and brother to join her father, Colonel E. A. Lodmell, at his new station in Battle Creek, Michigan.

The army colors of grey and gold were used as the color scheme for the luncheon table with an arrangement of succulents in a Chinese bowl. Chinese fortune cookies in porcelain nut cups were served with dessert. Following luncheon gin rummy and other games were enjoyed by the guests.

The guests, classmates of Mary and Kathie at Carmel high were: Jennifer Lloyd, Joan Dillingham, Nancy Wilson, Ann Rigdon, Janet Ritchie, Ann Fratessa, and Kathie's houseguest, Elizabeth Baker of Berkeley.

Mrs. Colvin Back

Mrs. W. P. Colvin returned last week from a six months' vacation, first, with her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Hennessy, "Mackie", in Spokane, then in New York, where she visited with her sons, Harold and Dr. William P., who have both been recently discharged from the army with brilliant war records. She saw her new granddaughter in New Port, Lucy Alice, born February 18, to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Merrill (Iris Colvin). She was in New York to welcome her youngest son, Charlie, on his discharge from the army. He intends to remain in New York attending school. Before she returned she visited in Washington, D. C., Atlanta, Williamsburg, New Orleans, San Antonio, San Diego, and Los Angeles.

She brought Mrs. Hennessy with her for the summer. Also a house guest is her sister, Miss Frances O'Brien of Kansas City.

To Attend Mill Summer Session

Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte is leaving Carmel on Saturday morning for the Mills College Summer Session, where she will take a special course under the Pulitzer Prize poet, James Gould Fletcher. During her absence, Spice, the wire-haired, Mrs. Clairmonte's "secretary," will avail herself of the opportunity to take a post graduate course at Marion Kingsland's Kennels south of the Big Sur.

Book To Be Published

A book of epigrammatic poems by Katherine W. Wiman, who has recently bought a home at the corner of Casanova and Eleventh Streets, is being locally printed. A review of the book will appear near the date of publication. An advance reading of certain pages was given at the last meeting of Mrs. Clairmonte's class in writing, and the amusing way in which modern philosophy was expressed in the quatrains caused a ripple of laughter to run along the conference table time after time.

Rowntrees Returned

Staying with her mother, Mrs. Louise Hasty is Mrs. Cedric Rowntree (Harriette Hasty) and her two children, Lester and Rowan. They will be here for several weeks. Mr. Rowntree will join them shortly.

Secretary to Dr. Liang

Miss Mary McNamara, who taught commercial at Carmel High School several years ago, writes from Washington, D. C., to friends here that she is now secretary to Dr. Liang, Director of International Law at UNO in New York. "It is such a wonderful experience. Dr. Liang is tops in International Law and is a true genius."

She lived in Washington and New York and was sent to the UNRRA Conference in Atlantic City, as a member of the Chinese Delegation. Between whiles, she has also found time to visit in Mississippi and Canada.

Writing of the Atlantic City conference she said, "We had a month there and the ocean and beach brought pangs for Carmel, however, the board walk is something else again. We had a grand setup at the Traymore Hotel, although after a while it became a little stock with the 'how did a McNamara ever get tied up with all the Chinese'... on the train was big question whether might be mistake, with Chow, Chieu, Chen, Cheng, Sun Sie, Tsiang and McNamara as members of the Chinese Delegation."

Another member of the DiMaggio family riding in the float with Rosalie is her brother, Vincent, who will be Uncle Sam.

After a two month's visit in the East, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bonham are again at home in their house on San Carlos street.

Millis-Leavenworth Wedding

The Right Reverend Karl Morgan Block last Friday night united in marriage Ann Millis and Russell Leavenworth. Just at twilight in the candle-lit All Saints' Church the double ring ceremony was performed. The church was beautifully decorated by Flora Stewart and the Altar Guild with tall white tapers and masses of regal lilies.

The bride's two sisters were her only attendants. Mrs. Sidney Lloyd Williams (Martha Millis) was matron-of-honor wearing a princess style dress of orchid faille with a sweetheart neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Both she and Jane Millis, who served as maid-of-honor, wore garlands of field flowers in their hair and their old-fashioned nosegays were of the same flowers. Jane's dress, fashioned in the same lines was light blue lace striped organdy.

Ann, given in marriage by her brother, William A. Millis was gowned in old-ivory satin. The fullness of the skirt, sweeping out into a long train, was caught with fine cartridge pleats along the bottom of the bodice, which buttoned down the back, the long, tight sleeves buttoning to the elbow. A coronet of heirloom lace fell over her shoulders to the lengths of tulle covering her train. The bride carried an old family prayer book of white satin streamered with white orchids and stephanotis.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Vera Peck Millis, was most becomingly dressed in pink and black crepe, her hat of pink ostrich feathers, her corsage, pink orchids.

One of Russell's Sigma Chi brothers, Anthony Tranel of Seattle, was his best man. His ushers were: Lloyd Borstelman of Berkeley, Edward Houser of Oakland, Willard W. Wheeler of Pebble Beach, and Sidney Lloyd Williams, the bride's brother-in-law.

After the wedding supper and dance at the Holman Ranch in Carmel Valley, the new Mr. and Mrs. Leavenworth left on their honeymoon.

The bride was wearing a softly tailored woolen suit of Australian mist, with a yellow blouse and top coat. Her accessories were black.

Bats, though blind, avoid obstructions while in flight by means of their keen hearing.

Wines! . . . Fine wines have played an important part in the historical days we are celebrating with our Centennial. Wines have always been an intrinsic part of the California way of living and entertaining. The GOURMET, in the Pine Inn, is proud to offer you a selection of imported, old Spanish wines—eminently suitable for your Centennial special events. Imported French wines and champagnes—many excellent vintages. Superior wines of our own California, too. The GOURMET has wine for every occasion—to serve as an aperitif—and with the courses of any meal you are planning. Fine sherries, red wines, white wines. If you are a connoisseur, you'll be delighted with the GOURMET "Cave" where the bottles are kept at just the right temperature. If you want help with your wine list, Grant Russell will be glad to advise you. Nothing can equal wines in lending a cosmopolitan air—an atmosphere of the old California "simpatico" that exists among those who know how to live well!

At last! . . . A smart, practical beach outfit absolutely suitable for Carmel, at THE COUNTRY SHOP, on Ocean. First, crisply styled two-piece suits for your sunning, in heavy, white rayon. The bra is gathered in front and buttons in back for easy adjustment. The shorts also button in back and have wide, smoothly fitting waistbands and a rear hip pocket! . . . Then, because we do have (whisper!) cool breezes on the beach—especially when you're taking a stroll—add a Frontier Shirt in red, blue or chartreuse flannel, piped in white. These have slashed pockets and trim two-button cuffs. They are worn with the tail out, you know. You can buy the sunsuits and shirts as separate items or as an outfit. Bless whoever thought these up, they're just what we Carmel beachcombers have been needing. Right in the Centennial theme, too . . . at THE COUNTRY SHOP.

Friday and Saturday Special! . . . THE CARMEL BAKERY, on Ocean, offers you French Stollen! Good? It's perfectly wonderful! Full of nuts, raisins, citrus . . . Marvelous just as it is and even better heated up or toasted as a new idea for breakfast or tea . . . Orange Bread, too—these loaves will be a tangy, delicious surprise for you, another toasted treat or fine for dessert! . . . Macaroons are back—so tempting! . . . And real, old-fashioned Chocolate. Eclairs full of fluffy whipped cream and covered with rich chocolate!

We have a past! . . . And we're proud of it! We're in the second day of our Centennial now commemorating July 7, 1846—one hundred years ago—when the U. S. flag was hoisted on California soil. But it goes deeper than that and is, in fact, a bow by present-day California to our old traditions and heritages of gracious living, hospitality, adventurousness, great-heartedness! It is good for us to stop in the middle of our fast-moving 1946 to remember and pay homage to our background—our past . . . SADE'S approves of traditions. SADE'S is, of course, a tradition itself—a newer one compared to 1846—but of long-standing in Carmel, nevertheless. SADE'S is proud of its past, too! For years SADE'S has been keeping alive the old customs of good food and drink and good talk among congenial people. SADE'S hopes you are enjoying the Centennial and, as always, extends a warm welcome to drop in and enjoy yourself in the true, old California spirit.

Beauty at your fingertips! . . . Chen Yu, the true lacquer make-up for your nails and other Chen Yu accessories for your manicure . . . at FORTIER'S DRUG STORE, on Ocean. Colorful "originals"—conservative or sophisticated shades—a group of "costume colors." Individual bottles or handy sets. Sets featuring bright Sun Red: Polish and a small size of Lacquerol in one—plus a little bottle of Sun Red shimmering Fluorescent in another—or large Sun Red Lacquer, matching Lipstick and small Lacquerol. A complete polish "wardrobe" in the Sunburst—three Chen Yu shades—Sun Red, Firefly, Coolie, with Lacquerol, emery boards, orange sticks, directions for your manicure! . . . Lipstick, Polish, Lacquerol in Chinese Red, true red with any color or complexion type, high fashion, in beautiful Chinese "brocade" boxes. Chen Yu Remover Pads, Hand Cream, Nail Balm, Chip Coat—and all products for care of your hands. News is Twin-cote—many-purpose base and top coat—prepares your nails for polish, speeds drying, gives brilliant sheen, makes polish wear twice as long! . . . At FORTIER'S.

California today and yesterday! . . . In keeping with the Centennial-inspired interest in our Golden State, Edith Griffin is featuring books on every phase of California, at her VILLAGE BOOK SHOP, on Ocean near the Bank of Carmel. For instance: "Authentic Early California Costumes" put out by the Stanford University Press; "The Gold Rush Song Book;" "The Truth About John Murietta"—notorious California outlaw—by J. C. Cunningham; a booklet invaluable during Centennial week, to be treasured later—"Carmel and Monterey in Pictures and Stories." New books on general subjects . . . "Into Siam"—Underground Kingdom—by Nicol Smith and Blake Clark. "Flowering Dusk"—Things Remembered Accurately and Inaccurately—by Ella Young.

Any meal at ANGELO'S is a party! . . . Centennial time or any time, the mood is festive at ANGELO'S, on Fisherman's Wharf, in Monterey . . . From the moment you set eyes on the gay, colorful building that houses this famous eating place, you'll be in a party frame of mind—and the gala, original decorations inside make sure you'll stay that way. Or, if you like, you can eat outside on the balcony above the water—looking out over the bay and across the town of Monterey—with nature's own color schemes spread before you! . . . If you're searching for Atmosphere—you'll find it at ANGELO'S! But you can't eat Atmosphere and you won't have to try to substitute it for wonderful food! Pizza, a specialty of the house, created to the connoisseur's taste . . . Crab, abalone, all sorts of grand seafood and other marvelous dishes . . . at ANGELO'S!

Get in at the beginning! . . . Start from scratch with the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS! No being born with a silver spoon in its mouth for this enterprise of Warren Wright's and Jack Harley's. In old Carmel "pioneer" style, the stock is, at present, stacked in a little shack in back or amidst the pleasant jumble of household and personal possessions inside the old white house, up on Mission north of 5th. Soon, there will be a transformation into a smart home and shop for new, used and rare books—revival of the literary salon—development of a publishing outlet for local authors. But, it's a promise that, in the finished state, informal charm will not disappear in too pristine orderliness! Have fun watching the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS grow! Meet "Polly," the parrot, the assorted cats (more soon!), the three pug dogs and two litters of puppies. Admire the strawberry and asparagus patches, the calla lilies, the new flower beds and discuss where to plant the fig tree!

Slacks in the fine, pre-war tradition! . . . Nylon bathing suits! . . . HOWARD'S DRESS SHOP, in Monterey, proudly presents these eventful additions to its stock . . . First, the slacks—100% all wool gabardine—black, blue or brown—master-tailored—pleated in front like men's slacks—two pockets—zippered side-closing—belt loops—sizes 10 to 16—the usual HOWARD policy of quality at fair prices—$12.50 . . . Now, the bathing suits—two-piece—fast-drying, long-wearing, beautiful "Taffalon" made of Dupont Nylon—jersey panties under the fetching, ruffled front skirt effect—fade-resistant shades of melon, black, yellow, aqua. A figure-flattering suit—new, different—practical for active swimming or lazy sunbathing. Many other new styles, too. HOWARD'S, on Alvarado, in Monterey.

JEZEBEL'S DOG HOUSE! . . . San Carlos near 7th. The busiest little place, with its stove fireplace, red refrigerator, green and red trimmings and stuffed animals on display. Everything for your pet's comfort. Veterinary consultation every afternoon. Bathing service. Ambulance to hospital. Fresh horsemeat, liver and heart daily—dry foods and dehydrated meats. Leashes, harnesses, leads, collars (some chrome), whistles, clippers, flea powder, soaps, brushes and the first metal combs since the war! K.9. dog tags with name, address and telephone number. Contact place for selling pets. If you work or are going to be away, leave your pet from morning until evening. Orders taken for pet photographs by Marie Reinmund—Carmel Photographers. Canaries, parrots and their needs, too . . . Get your copy of "Barks from Jezebel's", the little paper with diet sheets and news items on pets.

Have your home's picture taken! . . . Are you tickled to death with your new house—your summer garden—attached to your dear old homestead? MORLEY BAER, 6th near Dolores, takes simple, clear photographs without a lot of re-drawing and manipulations—perfect technique for recording the beauty of the Carmel home you take so much pride in . . . MORLEY BAER came down to take pictures of Del Monte for the Navy and quite naturally fell in love with Carmel. He had planned to establish himself in San Francisco when he got out of the service but here he is three months later firmly ensconced in his new gallery in Carmel. Please don't fail to go in and see his display of photographs against the beautifully plain and modern background he has created in his new gallery. You'll be thrilled with his style—a fresh approach to the art of photography!

It's here! . . . That dependable, accurate, really skilled radio service for which you've been searching. RADIO SERVICE BY BAYARD, on 6th near Dolores, one of Carmel's newest shops, is now open for business. Bayard Wiest, the owner, first established his radio service business back in 1922, when radio was in its infancy, and has been satisfying his customers ever since. You might say that he has a Master's Degree in his chosen life's work. He's right next door to Morley Baer, whom I just wrote about above, and the story of his coming to Carmel is very similar. He is just out of the Navy and was training radio technicians at Del Monte during the war. He wanted to stay around when he got his discharge, so now we have this very attractive new shop and master radio service to depend on. Very soon he expects to have radios and electrical appliances available for you and a wide and varied selection of recordings. Really, this new little "metropolitan" center on 6th between Dolores and San Carlos is becoming one of the most interesting and worth-looking-into districts in this village of ours. It's gratifying to have people come and establish themselves here motivated by real love for Carmel. You can be sure of getting the best from that type of individual. Do go in and see Mr. Wiest and his charming, brand new shop . . . RADIO SERVICE BY BAYARD.

Now is the time! . . . Time to think about your precious fur coat! Don't let small repair jobs on your furs go—spoiling the picture you want to create when you are dressed in your best—little rips become big ones! LOUDA'S, on Lincoln, can take care of your fur repairs expertly and promptly. LOUDA'S have an in-and-out storage service, too, so that you may store furs for absolute protection and safety and still take them out for a quick trip to the City and then put them back in again when you return . . . If you want a new coat! . . . See the beautiful models at LOUDA'S: Muskrat . . . Mink . . . White, curly South American Lamb—plain white or with smart, colorful knit borders, just right for the high school or college girl!

I'm in love! . . . with the smartest two-piece dresses I've seen . . . at MAXINE'S, on Dolores. Made in the same style as those stunning, striped Dan Rivers you adore, these are of wool gabardine with the same perfect combination of softly feminine and superbly tailored lines. Jaunty collars, yoked shoulders, skirts with three-panel backs and darted fronts—beautifully made, not the skimpy skirts we've been putting up with. Three quarter length Bishop sleeves with buttoned cuffs, tiny silver or gold buttons down the front of the top, matching belts with gold or silver kid. Subtle solid shades—ashes of roses, chamois, aqua, caramel and Chinese red. Enchantingly simple Western Fashions at MAXINE'S!

Don't miss stepping into the Pine Inn Gardens to see THE VAGABOND'S CORNER this week! . . . Here is the shop that brings the treasure trove of the world to you! . . . The fascinating Centennial window displays the model of one of the historical three-masted schooners, an old Spanish memorial tile—perfect for collectors of Californiana—and a wooden trunk that probably came to California in one of the covered wagons—interesting and could be used practically as a woodbox by your fireplace . . . The other window shows precious Sheffield! . . . Candlesticks—beautifully wrought. A graceful bud vase. An ornate bottle coaster. A small tray with lovely grape design sets off a handsome coffee pot—and delicate white Wedgwood demi-tasse cups trimmed in blue and rose with flowers inside their rims. Note the Belgian silver demi-tasse spoons to complete the picture! Other large spoons and ladles of old silver. Step inside and you'll find rare, to-becherished items from the Continent, the Orient, the South Seas . . . THE VAGABOND'S CORNER, just off Lincoln in the Pine Inn Gardens!

Las Estrellitas! . . . The Little Stars! . . . You'll be seeing stars and loving it, at CASA MUNRAS HOTEL AND COTTAGES, in Monterey, where this feminine quartette is playing for your pleasure. Back-ground music from 6 until 8 during dinner. Dancing from 9 to 12—six nights a week during the Centennial . . . Las Estrellitas are in gay Spanish costumes as are the waiters, bartenders and every one else at CASA MUNRAS—where they have entered into the spirit with abandon and enthusiasm. Don't forget to see the stars and have fun at CASA MUNRAS!

"It's a frame!" . . . The BEAUX ARTS STUDIO AND CAMERA SHOP, corner of Lincoln and Ocean, will mount and frame your photographs, paintings or other items in a distinctive style to suit the subject and satisfy your individual taste . . . You will find a large and varied selection of mouldings or, if you choose, a special moulding can be made to order for you. Prompt service! The frames are never sent out to be done elsewhere but are made right in the BEAUX ARTS. Let the BEAUX ARTS do your framing. You'll never take the rap! I know you'll be completely satisfied.

Discover the authentic charm of Mexico! . . . At THE MEXICAN IDOL, in Monterey . . . Mexican glass in glowing colors—amber, red, aquamarine and royal blues—glasses, jugs, plates, vases, sugar and creamers, after-dinner coffee cups, candle holders . . . Gay Mexican pottery—casseroles, servers, flower pots, pitchers, bowls . . . Skillfully woven baskets . . . Straw place mats . . . Bright, painted, stringed gourds . . . Native rugs . . . Hammered tin candelabras and other decorative items of Mexican workmanship . . . Some precious antiques . . . All the beauty of true Mexican arts and crafts at THE MEXICAN IDOL . . . 226 Calle Principal, Monterey.

Made especially for the Centennial! . . . Ceramic figurines—little Spanish Senoritas with gay, swirling skirts, combs in their hair, fans in their hands. Made of native clay and so like Dresden. See them on Dolores near 7th at the HAND-CRAFT COTTAGE, specializing in Carmel arts and crafts!

A most original, handy lounging jacket! . . . Earl Glennon's SPALDING SHOP, Dolores and Ocean, presents the "Readingjack" . . . for men at home, in the barracks, at school or travelling—and, particularly, for men of the armed forces convalescing in hospitals and needing every comfort and convenience. Wonderfully easy to slip on and off with clever, patented criss-cross back-opening and three-button closure. Warm, comfortable, cozy and so convenient. Maroon and navy or camel and brown in soft-as-down Camelord, a fabric of Dupont Rayon Yarn, that gives amazing service. Large front decorative pocket. To doff the "Readinjack" simply touch hip buttons and slip your arms out. Never anything like it before. The perfect answer to the gift problem... $6.50... See SPALDING'S ad on back page.

Pause in your celebrating for a fine lunch or dinner in charming, restful surroundings!... Go on your way — refreshed, relaxed, well-fed and happy!... THE CLOISTER ROOM, in the Hotel La Ribera, on Lincoln, has managed to enter gayly into the Centennial spirit and, miraculously, to preserve, at the same time, its blessed atmosphere of peaceful distinction. If you have tried THE CLOISTER ROOM'S cuisine, I don't need to say a word about it! The food is superb! Charcoal-broiled steaks — magnificent! Veal Scallopini that you'll definitely want to try again and again! Chicken Cacciatore, so good you have to taste it to believe it! No matter what your taste in food is, you'll be pleased at THE CLOISTER ROOM!

Handpainted Scarves!... THE CYNTHIAN, on Dolores, has them for you! Gay and summery, these skillfully-painted scarves by Nancy, of Carmel, are breathtaking! Festive now — they fit perfectly into the Centennial scene — and are right any time — can be worn so many ways! Sheer silk in coral, aqua or white — handpainted designs featuring cypresses, pine cones and, most eye-catching of all, authentic little scenes of the picturesque shops in Carmel. Perfect souvenirs for yourself — welcome gifts for friends back East and, oh! so much fun to wear. THE CYNTHIAN!

The troubles of the world seem so far away!... at GALLATIN'S, the wonderful new place over the ocean that Gallatin Powers has opened now he is out of the Army... Drive South thirteen miles down the scenic Big Sur Highway — you'll want to take this drive — and you'll find GALLATIN'S just before you get to famous Bixby Bridge. Dine sumptuously — looking out from the sheer cliffs across the blue Pacific where the boats go by on the horizon at sunset. Purple hills rise up in back. The food is beyond compare — I had broiled lobster that was absolutely divine — which is a word I use very seldom... You can tell that each dish is prepared with loving care. Even the menu is different — handwritten with clever pertinent remarks about each item listed. There is a bar and a cozy little cocktail lounge in front of the fireplace. The decor is really unusual with shells, nets, driftwood — might have been done by a beachcomber with money and good taste! Note the driftwood figures — sculpted by nature. Different, restful — you'll feel as though you've had a whole vacation after a visit to GALLATIN'S.

From fine fashions... to fine music! That's the step the COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP, in Monterey, is making as its compliment to the Monterey Centennial celebration. Eva Brownlee is bringing Gene King, well-known tenor, to sing for various events. If you're interested in good music take a look at the placard in THE COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP window, for a list of events at which he will appear. This young man is just out of the service and known in radio, stage, clubs, churches and recordings. THE COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP is happy to sponsor Gene King for your entertainment.

Real old Spanish lace in a glamorous black mantilla!... at OLIVER'S MISSION ART AND CURIO STORE, opposite the Custom's House in Monterey. Breathing-taking over a high comb for the Centennial Ball or over your own tresses any dress-up evening! Truly a collector's item like so many things at OLIVER'S.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea" (Habakkuk 2:14). This verse is the Golden Text for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon on "God" for Sunday, July 7.

One Bible citation in the sermon is this from the 46 Psalm: "Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth" (10).

A correlative citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy reads: "Science so reverses the evidence before the corporeal human senses, as to make this Scriptural testimony true in our hearts, 'The last shall be first, and the first last,' so that God and His idea may be to us what divinity really is and must of necessity be, — all-inclusive" (116).

FIRE IN ROBINSON CANYON

A fire which started from back-firing from a car burned about three acres of grass and stubble on the Frances Elkins property in Robinson Canyon, Carmel Valley. The State Forestry fire suppression crew received the call at 11:43 and soon had the blaze under control.

Only One Carmel Landlord Ups Rent

other California cities, have received a request from the State Realty Board that rentals be not increased in excess of 15 percent. This amount was deemed fair to take care of housing repairs.

Most realtors and landlords in Carmel, expecting a reinstatement of rent control, were doing nothing about the situation until it is learned just what is going to happen. With a reinstatement, realtors feel it likely that a 15 percent increase will be allowed. Meanwhile, landlords must, by state law, give a 30-day notice of proposed boosting of rents. The Monterey OPA is functioning unofficially, although records are made of each complaint as it comes in.

Classmate Visiting

Miss Shirley Lewis will have as her houseguest during the Centennial Celebration a former classmate of the University of Arizona, Miss Caddie Dodge of Berkeley.

junction of Los Laureles grade, morning at the Corral de Tierra Five Seaside youths noticed the fire and they were largely instrumental in keeping the fire under control awaiting the arrival of State Forestry fire suppression crews. The blaze, which was started by a cigarette, covered 10 acres of brush and grass. At this time, brush and grass in the warm country areas are tinder-dry and great caution must be observed by those traveling through these hazardous districts.

Cried the war bride...

FREEDOM FROM HOUSEWORK DRUDGERY
...in the modern California home

Her G. I. Joe had told her about the wonderful home she would have on the other side of the U. S. A.—in California. She just thought it was Yankee "big talk."

The young bride was amazed that everything he said was true. There WERE electric lights all through the house. She DID have a radio in her bedroom. There WAS a machine that made ice and refrigerated food. Her kitchen stove WAS WHITE as a China plate and cooked automatically. A machine swept the rugs, and you just touched a little lever to turn on a fire to heat your house.

She was amazed, too, that you didn't have to be wealthy to have and use all these wonderful appliances. All her friends and neighbors had them. It was the American way of living. It was a new freedom she hadn't expected to find—the freedom from daily housework drudgery.
